Identifying examples of Research, Improvement & Innovation activity in the region

OBJECTIVES

Working with Swansea University to identify projects, while suggesting potential future opportunities for regional stakeholders to explore further. The health and social care sector in Wales plays a critical role in improving and sustaining populating health and wellbeing, in addition to influencing the impact of employment, education, housing, social inequalities and economic growth.

OUTCOME

Health and Social Care Research, Innovation and Improvement Landscape Report.

What does the report show?

The research details current and recent examples of RII activities across the CTM region, spanning Primary and Community Care, Secondary Care, Social Care, Academic and Third Sector Settings. Activities include; new models of service provision; innovative approaches to workforce re-design; implementation of new products, processes and services.

This research helps to inform how future health and social care funding is allocated, and what new services and innovations are improving the wellbeing of our communities. It also provides resources to identify good practice and potential opportunities to accelerate projects that are working successfully.

Research, Improvement & Innovation Mapping for CTM - CTM (ctmregionalpartnershipboard.co.uk)

"Insight and understanding drawn from the findings of this research study can be used to inform the future strategic direction of the CTM RIC by providing an evidence base from which priorities can be established, regional strategies derived & collaborative partnerships initiated as part of a wider movement to drive positive change"
