

Privacy Notice

The Provider of your care (your GP, Pharmacist, Dentist, Hospital, Ambulance Service or out of hours and Emergency care provider) is the controller of the information gathered by the health professional for data protection purposes.

When you log in for an appointment using the NHS Wales Consulting Service we will process your name, phone number and date of birth so that the health professional providing your care will know who is in the waiting room, and can confirm who you are when they see you. These details are deleted within an hour of your consultation.

In providing a video consultation, the personal information exchanged between you and the health professional during the call will be done so over a secure encrypted internet channel. Your consultation will not be recorded, only you and your health professional will be aware of what is discussed. The health professional will make notes during and/or after the consultation for inclusion in your health records in the same way as they would do if you attended an appointment in person.

At your request or at the request of the health professional, other individuals may be invited to join the call, for example, a family member to provide you with support or another health professional if considered appropriate.

Aneurin Bevan University Health Board, Headquarters, St. Cadocs Hospital, Caerleon, NP18 3XQ provides the NHS Wales Video Consulting Service system on behalf of NHS Wales and is considered a Joint Controller with your health care provider for the administration of the system. Aneurin Bevan University Health Board does not access any health data that you provide in the course of your consultation or disclose this information to third parties.

Information that does not identify you is collected about the time of your call. The length of your call and similar technical data may be collected for the purposes of further developing and improving the NHS Wales Video Consulting Service.

The NHS Wales Video Consulting Service uses your IP address and access device type to process your call effectively. These are deleted from the NHS Wales Video Consulting Service system within 3 months. This information cannot be combined with other details you provide to identify you.

Your IP address is sent to Google Analytics for web access statistical reporting. Technical details in connection with visits to this website are logged, collected and used by our host, Amazon Web Services and Google Analytics.

Your Rights

The General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) includes a number of rights. We must generally respond to requests in relation to your rights within one month, although there are some exceptions to this.

The availability of some of these rights depends on the legal basis that applies in relation to the processing of your personal data, and there are some other circumstances in which we may not uphold a request to exercise a right. Your rights and how they apply are described below.

Right to be Informed

Your right to be informed is met by the provision of this privacy notice, and similar information when we communicate with you directly – at the point of contact.

Right of Access

You have the right to obtain a copy of personal data that we hold about you and other information specified in the GDPR, although there are exceptions to what we are obliged to disclose.

A situation in which we may not provide all the information is where in the opinion of an appropriate health professional disclosure would be likely to cause serious harm to you, or somebody else's physical or mental health.

Right to Rectification

You have the right to ask us to rectify any inaccurate data that we hold about you.

Right to Erasure ('right to be forgotten')

You have the right to request that we erase personal data about you that we hold. This is not an absolute right, and depending on the legal basis that applies, we may have overriding legitimate grounds to continue to process the data.

Right to Restriction of Processing

You have the right to request that we restrict processing of personal data about you that we hold. You can ask us to do this for example where you contest the accuracy of the data.

Right to Data Portability

This right is only available where the legal basis for processing under the GDPR is consent, or for the purposes of a contract between you and the Practice. For this to apply the data must be held in electronic form. The right is to be provided with the data in a commonly used electronic format.

Right to Object

You have the right to object to processing of personal data about you on grounds relating to your particular situation. The right is not absolute, and we may continue to use the data if we can demonstrate compelling legitimate grounds.

Rights in relation to automated individual decision-making including profiling

You have the right to object to being subject to a decision based solely on automated processing, including profiling. Should we perform any automated decision-making, we will record this in our privacy notice, and ensure that you have an opportunity to request that the decision involves personal consideration.

Right to complain to the Information Commissioner

You have the right to complain to the Information Commissioner if you are not happy with any aspect of Practices processing of personal data or believe that we are not meeting our responsibilities as a data controller. The contact details for the Information Commissioner are:
