

You asked:

1. Please could you send the information on monies and plans since 2014 that were used for recruiting consultants at the above A & E

All vacancies within the University Health Board are advertised on NHS Jobs and Consultant posts are advertised in the BMJ. The cost for both are not specific for A&E at Royal Glamorgan but would also cover other vacancies.

Further information around recruiting consultants at the Royal Glamorgan Hospital A&E is available on the Health Boards website via the discloser-log. Please see link provided below:

In addition to this, reports/plans are made accessible to the public via the Health Boards' committees and Board, and can be accessed via this link:

2. Please could you send the information on monies and plans spent on how the Prince Charles and Princess of Wales A & E will be able to cope with the extra people through their doors

The Health Board does not hold this information.

To clarify, no decision about the best solution and actions have been made at this present time. The Health Board is currently working with clinicians from across the Health Board on the proposals to the Emergency Department at the Royal Glamorgan Hospital and any impact these may have on neighbouring hospitals and services.
